

Quina Care Ecuador

An important step in enabling Quina Care to operate in the area is to register the foundation in Ecuador. Together with an attorney we process an enormous amount of paper to establish Quina Care Ecuador. This registration is essential, among other things, for importing medicines.

The choice for Triodos Bank

In terms of a bank, we've decided on the Triodos bank. The Triodos bank is one of the most sustainable banks in the world. This bank aims to contribute to positive changes in society, ecology and culture.

Tax deduction

By now, Quina Care has been assigned the ANBI status of the Dutch Tax Administration. This means that donations, under specific circumstances, can be deducted from the gross income.

Quina Care goes 'live'

Quinacare.org is officially live, the social media are open.

Homepage quinacare.org

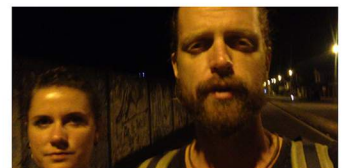

The first newsletter from Quina Care is here! Founded in January with only one goal: to provide the people of the Amazon rainforest with better health care. At the heart is the establishment of a hospital. The plan is written, and we're currently working hard to ensure its realization. Our website quinacare.org went live on the 12th of August and interested parties have been notified of this launch. In addition, Quina Care is also active on social media such as Facebook, Instagram, LinkedIn and Youtube. In other words: Quina Care is ready to announce its aim to the wider public.

Blog&Vlog

Meanwhile, the two doctors on location, Jacob and Carolien, have made great advancements in finding the most suitable location for the hospital. As we speak, they're visiting communities, villages and small towns in almost all of the Ecuadorian rainforest, both across water and land. They've started a blog&vlog which allows you to follow the latest development on the spot. You can subscribe to this on the website.

NIGHT RIDES

A visa is not easy to get. Living in Coca, a six hours drive from Quito, this means many nights on the bus.

PATIENCE...

You'll need more than a huge dose of enthusiasm if you plan to build a hospital in South America. The first obstacle is the possibility to register as a doctor. If you're in the fortunate position that the authorities of your country of residence allow you to do so, it's still not a given that the requirements are actually achievable.

THERE WE GO!

The Ebola crisis is over, we've left Africa behind and we're now at that other continent that desperately needs medical care as well: South America. It's not the first continent that springs to mind when thinking about development aid, but it meets all the criteria.
